Ken Ramirez wrote and edited this book as a training manual for his staff and for students of his graduate course on Animal Training. Published by the Shedd Aquarium in 1999 and now in its third printing, it has become the "must have" book for zoo and aquarium trainers world-wide.

The book is a collection of articles by over 100 trainers focusing on training topics ranging from beginner to advanced. The book is divided into chapters that guides the reader through the development of a professional training program. Each chapter shares Ken's perspective on how to put a training program together then introduces the reader to articles that appear at the end of each chapter.

+ The book is only available by completing the form overleaf and submitting it by the due date. Payment must be received in full before the order can be accepted. The book will not be available for sale at the Conference.

* Due to the value of this book, Express Post is the only mailing option available.
